EXPERIENCED TRAINERS

Caroline Zhou

I'm a consultant anaesthetist working at Tauranga Hospital. I've always had a strong interest in medical education and simulation. I have had close involvement with teaching, training and simulation in the anaesthesia field, as well as engagement with medical students, anaesthetic technicians, nurses and midwives. Outside of work, I enjoy good food and wine and am an avid Star Trek fan.

Sharon Owen

I have been in post as the Resuscitation Training Educator for the Canterbury District Health Board (CDHB) since July 2008. My career has included being a Zoo Keeper, a Veterinary Nurse and an Operating Department Practitioner (OPD). I also have a background in adult education as a full time teacher for four years on the OPD course in the UK. I moved to New Zealand in 2005, working as an Anaesthetic Technician before taking my current role.

Penny Ingram

I have been in the position of CDHB Resuscitation Coordinator since July 2008. I have an extensive background in acute paediatric nursing and have always had a special interest in resuscitation. I am also the APLS NZ Christchurch Coordinator and have worked in the Clinical Skills Unit as Coordinator for three years. I have a passion for quality education that is fun and can make a difference to practise in the clinical setting.

Lester Settle

Lester has always had a strong interest in sedation, starting with his first private practice job providing general anaesthetics for extractions. Presently he divides his time between private practice and Clinical Director of the Hospital Dental Service. His interest in sedation lead him to become a NZRC instructor, helping to teach CORE Immediate and CORE Advanced both privately and as part of the team within the CDHB.
